

DELORENZO

969 Madison Avenue, New York, NY 10021
Phone 212 249-7575 Fax 212 861-7507

#1903

L. & J.G. STICKLEY (Leopold Stickley 1869-1957) (John George Stickley 1871-1921), circa 1910

Tall case clock, no. 86; in oak with paneled sides and an overhanging top; featuring a square upper door with the acid-etched brass clock face visible through a circular window and a rectangular lower door with the brass weights and pendulum visible through an elongated glass panel; the clock with a ticking second hand and the face featuring a design using square elements.

Signed on the clock face: L. & J.G. STICKLEY

Measurements

Height: 80 in (203.2 cm)

Width: 27 in (68.5 cm)

Depth: 16 ³/₄ in (42.6 cm)

Documentation

Steven Gray, The Mission Furniture of L & J.G. Stickley, New York: Turn of the Century, 1989, pp. 4 and 151 (illustration no. 86 from the firm's Handcraft Furniture Catalogue).

The Stickley Museum at Craftsman Farms, Innovation and Derivation: The Contribution of L. & J.G. Stickley to the Arts and Crafts Movement exhibition catalogue, text by Donald A. Davidoff and Stephen Gray, New York, 1995, pp. 10, 11, and 76 (similar models illustrated).

Exhibition

A similar model of this clock is on permanent display at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in the Lewis Decorative Arts Collection.

